COMMUNICATION FROM THE CHAIR

FINANCE BILL

Hon. Speaker: Hon. Members, this afternoon after the morning session, we have been having a meeting with the finance minister. As I had explained in the morning, there is a procedural Finance Bill that is supposed to have been done to follow the budget and the draft Bill was received by the office. Therefore, there is a communication that we have received the Bill and copies shall be circulated.

Hon. Members, the Bill has not yet been gazetted so it is not available for debate. It cannot be read and because of that procedure that is remaining, then we are not able to conduct that business even tomorrow because we don't expect the gazette to be done until Friday. In the circumstances therefore, we don't have business for tomorrow and I'll urge that the house adjourns. Perhaps before I do that, the communication of the Bill is now referred to the appropriate committee.

ADJOURNMENT

Hon. Speaker: There being no other business then, the house adjourns sine die.

The House rose at 2.33 p.m.
